

Water Supply

The supply of water from the Bay Delta system is insufficient to meet the beneficial uses depending on the Bay Delta system. As total demand for water from the system has continued to increase over the years, water supply cutbacks have become larger and more frequent and water supply reliability has decreased for most water users.

